Year to Go for Fund Changes; A Look at Floating NAV MMFs

With just a year to go until the centerpiece of the SEC's 2014 Money Fund Reforms — the floating NAV and emergency gates & fees — goes into effect (Oct. 14, 2016), we wanted to again summarize some of the work done by fund companies to date. We also wanted to focus on the pending class of floating NAV funds, Prime Inst MMFs in particular.

While it's been a month since we've seen any major announcements from money market fund managers on reform-related changes, there have been a flurry of smaller moves, including liquidations, name changes, share class launches, and changes in investment guidelines. Among these: PNC just merged its PNC Advantage

Morgan Stanley Talks Growth, New Products

The October issue of our flagship Money Fund Intelligence newsletter features an interview with the cash management team at Morgan Stanley Investment Management — Managing Director Fred McMullen, Managing Director & Senior Portfolio Manager Jonas Kolk, and Executive Director of Product Management Scott Wachs. Morgan Stanley, which has been managing money funds since 1975, is the 7th largest global institutional MMF manager with over $120 billion in assets. McMullen, Kolk, and Wachs talk about Morgan Stanley's industry leading growth over the past 5 years and about new product development.

SEC Finalizes Ratings Removal from MMF Rules

The U.S. S.E.C. finalized one of two remaining supporting rules for its July 2014 Money Fund Reforms, the "Removal of Certain References to Credit Ratings and Amendment to the Issuer Diversification Requirement in the Money Market Fund Rule." A press release says, "The Securities and Exchange Commission adopted amendments to remove credit rating references in the principal rule that governs money market funds and the form that money market funds use to report information to the Commission each month about their portfolio holdings. The Commission also adopted amendments that would subject additional securities to issuer diversification provisions in the money market fund rule."

Thus, as expected, money funds' "First Tier" and "Second Tier" credit regime, which required (roughly) A-1, P-1, F-1 ratings (or A-2, P-2, F-2), will be replaced by a new "minimal credit risk" test that doesn't reference ratings. Note that the

Inst Govt MMF into PNC Govt MMF. Also, Dreyfus changed the names of several funds. In addition, Goldman Sachs FS Federal Fund changed its name to Goldman Sachs FS Treasury Solutions on Oct. 1, 2015, and Fidelity recently provided another update to advisors on some previously announced fund mergers. (See our MFI XLS "Changes" tab, and see www.cranedata.com's Oct. 5 News, "Lull in Major Announcements, But Minor Moves Continue: American, PNC.")

While we have seen over $200 billion worth of Prime funds announce that they'll convert to Government to date (and some of these, like Fidelity Cash Reserves, are well underway), the vast majority of large Prime Institutional funds will likely stay as such and adopt Floating NAVs. We examine which portfolios will float and highlight those that have not yet announced their plans. Also, we explore how much they might float — see the table below of the largest funds and their monthly "shadow" NAVs over 12 mos. (and note the lack of movement).

One of the major concerns with Prime Inst funds is the Floating NAV, which will go into effect Oct. 14, 2016. But we have been tracking Shadow NAV pricing over the last several years and have seen almost no movement. The average shadow NAV for the largest MMF portfolios has been right at 1.0001 since the new rules were announced in July 2014. So, while it remains to be seen what happens with the Prime Inst sector, data shows that there won't be much of any NAV movement.

A Recap of Who's Remaining Prime Inst

The largest Prime Inst portfolio, the $116.2 billion JP Morgan Prime Money Market Fund, intends to adapt the Floating NAV. While Fidelity has not yet made any announcements on how it will move forward with its Prime Institutional funds, including the $65.5 billion Fidelity Institutional MM and the $47.8 Fidelity Institutional Prime MM, Fidelity's head of fixed income, Nancy Prior, has said that Fidelity intends to have Prime Institutional funds. (See the Largest Portfolios table on p. 6.)

The third largest Prime Institutional fund, BlackRock's $62.8 billion TempFund, will also stay Prime Inst. BlackRock TempCash too will remain Prime Institutional, but it will convert to a 7-day maximum maturity fund, designed to reduce NAV volatility. However, there have been no announcements yet on BlackRock's $41.0 billion Cash Institutional or $22.9B Cash Prime portfolios to date.

Wells Fargo intends to offer 2 Prime Institutional funds — the $38.6B Wells Fargo Advantage Heritage Money Market and the $11.1B Wells Fargo Advantage Cash Investment MM. Also, State Street will keep its $37.3B Institutional Liquid Reserves as Prime Institutional. Finally, of note, T. Rowe Price told ignites that it will launch a new Prime Institutional fund.

In the "no-floating NAV" camp: Vanguard has said it won't be offering any Prime Institutional funds, though it had almost $29 billion in its "Inst" share class. This class saw assets drop by a shocking $11.8 billion in Sept. to $17.2B. Also, Deutsche will convert 5 of its Prime Institutional funds to Govt, leaving just the $113 million Deutsche Variable NAV MMF as its only Prime Inst offering. Franklin and opment. We're fortunate that we have a large retail fund money fund lineup as well as a large institutional fund lineup. Some in the marketplace have to create new retail funds to deal with the bifurcation the SEC created between institutional and retail investors. We don't have to worry about that, so we're more freed up to focus on new product development.

We've already announced some changes to our product lineup in response to the regulations, and we've shared our views on several aspects of the regulations and the competitive landscape. A few months ago, we provided clients our perspectives on the announcements that several of our competitors had made to date. We'll soon post a more comprehensive update on our progress to date and on some of our key product development issues. Three, we are very focused on growing our European liquidity business.

MFI: What kind of growth have you seen?

McMullen: Most of the growth has been on the institutional side. If you look at our global institutional flows from the beginning of 2010 through the end of July of this year, we're up almost $72 billion. The next largest competitor is [up] $34 billion and there are only 5 or 6 other fund families that have positive flows in the global institutional category over that time period. Some of the fund families have pretty significant outflows, so we've been very fortunate to grow the franchise in what's been a tough market.

Morgan Stanley's commitment to and focus on liquidity management has been the major driver. We thought that with the strength of the Morgan Stanley franchise and the disciplined approach we had to managing the funds, if we just put the right distribution model in place, we would be able to be successful over what we thought were going to be some challenging years. We have focused on adding people to the Team who have extensive direct relevant experience. For example, we brought Scott [Wachs] in ... to head up the product effort. He's got 25-plus years in the liquidity space and he's done a tremendous amount of work for us on the existing product lineup and product development.

MFI: What is the biggest challenge in managing cash today?

Kolk: Clearly the biggest challenge today is the interest rate environment and balancing risk and return. In spite of what the Fed didn't do on Sept. 17, we're still at an inflection point. At some point, it's likely that rates will rise. So that brings into the thought process an evaluation of whether or not we're being properly compensated to extend out the curve. We clearly feel that we haven't been, so generally we have been short duration, shorter than the peer groups. So balancing risk and return in this rate environment is what makes our job especially challenging at this point in time. On top of that is the uncertainty surrounding the timing and the impact of 2a-7 reform in terms of potential AUM movement. We've already seen $200 billion or so in prime funds that are intending to shift to government funds.

MFI: What are you buying? Or not?

Kolk: Again, we don't think that we're being compensated to extend duration with the uncertainty of the Fed's lift-off decision. In terms of credit, we're conservative with respect to the areas and locations that we'll invest. We have a clear eye on headline risk — a perfect example of that is China.

We do not invest in Chinese banks, as an example, and I think that strategy has been a smart one, certainly with the volatility that we saw coming out of that part of the world in August. In terms of [the Fed's] Reverse Repo Program, from the standpoint of how we manage our portfolios and how short and liquid we are in most of our strategies, it's a great investment tool to have, as we look for short dated investment options. We've had a consistent, disciplined investment strategy — defensive fund positioning, high liquidity — against the backdrop of a rising rate environment and uncertainty in terms of regulatory reform and AUM movement. That's a strategy that has resonated well with clients, and we expect that as uncertainty persists going forward it will become even more important.

MFI: What are you hearing from clients?

Wachs: There is a confluence of events that are going on right now. It's not just money market fund reform, but it's also banking reform and Basel III. How does that play into the treatment that banks will have for deposits? What does that mean for the availability of deposits for clients going forward? Clients are becoming increasingly concerned about

$1.1 billion. This is the third money fund acquisition that Federated has made this year (others included Reich & Tang's MMF business and Touchstone's Ohio Tax Free MMF; see our 9/10 News).

► More MMFs Go Government. American Century, the 29th largest MMF manager, will convert its $1.4 billion Premium Money Market Fund into the US

Government MMF. Also, as expected, the $12 billion American Funds Money Market Fund filed to convert to American Funds US Govt MMF.

► Money Funds Down in September. Money funds assets declined in September by $22.0 billion, the first month since April that assets have declined. Almost all of the Sept. decline was Institutional. YTD, MMFs are down $77.2 billion, or 3.0%.

► Reich & Tang Buyout, Lawsuit. R&T, which provides "amalgamated" FDIC-insured bank deposits (and which exited the money fund business earlier this year), is in the midst of a management buyout from parent company, Natixis Global Asset Management, according to a statement. Also, another player in the space, TCG Financial, was acquired by Catalyst Funds. (See our News.)

that. We already alluded to the interest rate policy and the low interest rate environment — How long does that continue? We work with a lot of multinational clients and certainly the negative interest rate environment in Europe is a concern for these clients.

MFI: Can you tell us about new products or other new reform-related initiatives?

Wachs: There are still a lot of things we're working on relative to money market fund reform. I think back to last summer when the reforms were announced; we quickly kicked into gear. We put into place a very large money market reform project SWAT team with about a dozen work streams. Since then we've been working rigorously through those work streams to prepare ourselves and our clients for the implementation dates. The big one is next October, where the rubber really meets the road.

There [will be] new products that we'll be announcing shortly. There are also some changes to the characteristics of existing products. For example, our institutional lineup has two Prime funds today — Prime Portfolio and Money Market Portfolio. We are working to determine and will announce how those funds will trade going forward with respect to how many NAV strikes they will have. I'm not aware of any manager that has publicly committed to an NAV strike schedule going forward. We have heard from our clients as to how they would like a prime money fund to look. We'll be aligning our two prime funds in a way that makes sense for our clients.

Also, we were one of the first to be out there with most of the information required by the new disclosure rules — whether its market NAV or weekly assets. We've been displaying it on our website for years now. The new regulations require 6 months' worth of history, [so] we will have that information.

MFI: Where do you expect assets to flow, post-reform?

McMullen: You've got to be engaged with clients continuously. But now that the industry is going through a big transition, you need to be in front of clients more than ever. While we are starting to see some regulatory related AUM movements, the client symposiums we are holding tell us that clients are hesitant to make any changes until they see a trend emerge.

But you could have a scenario where a significant amount of money moves from prime funds to government and treasury funds. When the regulations first came out, clients were looking for that direct substitute for prime funds that would offer the same utility. Clients are recognizing that there isn't a direct substitute, so an increasing number of conversations are focused on, "What alternatives do I have?" or "How do I bi-furcate my cash going forward?"

Wachs: Certainly there is no perfect substitute for prime funds once the new regulatory regime is implemented. But more importantly, there isn't a clear consensus on what the best option is — different clients in different segments in different industries with different cash flow requirements are going to want different solutions. We try to engage in conversations with clients about all the possible solutions. We want to provide a compelling set of options for the money that's going to be in motion. The best way we can do that is to have continual dialogue with our clients as their thinking evolves.

MFI: Tell us about your outlook?

McMullen: A lot is obviously contingent on how clients respond to the regulatory changes and the rate environment. It's not very clear exactly when and where prime fund assets will move. So I think the outlook for next year is fairly uncertain. But we're well positioned regardless. We can't control flows. But we do have a lot of control over our new business development, and we've got a really robust pipeline. There are a lot of opportunities — whether it's funds or separate accounts or some of the new products that we have in front of us. If you look at the last couple of years the industry's been flat to down, and we've been up. Our goal is to continue to take market share no matter what the environment.

Wachs: We are at a sweet spot in terms of our size — we like to call ourselves right sized. That means we have the scale to meet our clients need without sacrificing the easy and direct access we provide to our portfolio managers, credit analysts, and product experts. We can talk to them about how we're managing their money, about their concerns in the market. That access, along with the defensive way we manage our portfolio, is the core of our value proposition. ♦

American also appear to be giving up the floating “ghost”.

We still don’t know what a handful of large money market firms are planning for their Prime Institutional funds. While Federated has said it would make some of its Prime Inst funds 60-day and under “maximum maturity” funds, it hasn’t declared on some of its Prime Inst funds. In our profile this month, Morgan Stanley’s money market team said they are looking at changing some of the characteristics on their two Prime Inst funds, Prime Portfolio and Money Market Portfolio, but nothing has been announced yet.

Goldman Sachs hasn’t made any announcements either on their Prime Inst portfolios, including the $34.5 billion Financial Square MM and the roughly $12.0 billion Prime Obligations. Further, both Schwab and Dreyfus have said they will have Prime Inst funds. But nothing has been outlined yet, although Dreyfus did say it is considering a 60-day maximum maturity fund.

“With negative rates, increasingly scarce liquidity in the money markets and regulatory upheaval in both Europe and the US, these are very challenging times.”

► Households Hold Less MMFs. The Federal Reserve’s quarterly Z.1 “Financial Accounts of the U.S.” survey shows that the largest investor segment of MMFs, Households, declined below the $1 trillion level in Q2 for the first time in a decade. Household shares decreased by $19.4 billion to $985.4 billion — or 38.2% of the $2.580 trillion held in MMF shares. Only State & Local Governments, Nonfinancial Noncorporate Businesses, and State & Local Government Retirement Funds gained.

► Holdings Show Jump in Agencies. Our Sept. Money Fund Portfolio Holdings, with data as of Aug. 31, show big gains in holdings of Agencies (some due to Fidelity Cash Reserves’ increasing Agencies by $9.4 billion). Repo de-

A recent Pensions & Investments article explains, “New rules requiring floating net asset values and potential withdrawal restrictions on institutional prime money market funds won’t take effect until October 2016, but some money managers and consultants are warning the time to move out of them is now. Among the issues with delaying, they warn, are the potential for investment losses and reduced liquidity from a last-minute rush to the exits that could negatively affect the nearly $1 trillion ... now in institutional prime funds.”

The story quotes Kimberly Gillett of Towers Watson & Co. LLC, “I understand why some people might have the perspective that it’s too early.... But it’s not too early to have these conversations. Decisions will need to be made, and if you can already make the change to Treasury and government money market funds, it’s an easy change to make.”

Prime Inst Staying at 1/3 ... For Now

As the chart on page 1 shows, Prime Institutional assets are holding steady at $854.2 billion or 33% of MMF assets. They’ve actually increased over the past year by $41.3 billion, or 5.1%, vs. 1.5% growth for money funds overall. Of course, future flows will depend heavily on spreads, government supplies, and whether investors adapt to the pending floating NAV and emergency gates and fees regime. ♦

Irish Funds’ CEO on CNAV: Legitimate Reason to Exist

Our recent European Symposium in Dublin featured a session, “Money Market Funds in Ireland,” with Irish Funds’ CEO Pat Lardner and Regulatory Affairs Head Patrick Rooney. Lardner commented, “This is an international industry in its own right.... It’s been our suggestion in this reform package that you have to have something that allows the banks to get funding — that’s why there is a very much a joining at the hip of the interest of CNAV and VNAV parts of the industry when it comes to funding underlying entities.”

He added, “We have a very steadfast view that we must preserve the features of CNAV money market funds because they are valued by investors. If they are valued by investors, and they provide a source of funding into the economy, they have a legitimate reason to exist and continue. We think that a vibrant and a well-structured money market fund segment that continues to provide for CNAV is important.” He hopes for a “viable solution.”

Rooney said on regulations and the EU proposals, “The money market fund file has been highly controversial and there have been many twists and turns. Currently, we have 3 proposed alternatives to CNAV, the Low Volatility NAV (LVNAV) money market fund, the Public Debt MMF, and the Retail CNAV MMF. The problem is there is something with each of those that needs to be addressed, so we’re still in a difficult position. But if we look back to the Commission proposal — the capital buffer proposal, which would kill CNAV funds — I’d like to think that the debate is shifting to one around viable solutions for CNAV. So the road ahead is still very challenging.”

He adds, “The EP’s proposal must be agreed to by the Council of Ministers then it goes to the “trilogue” phase. So we have some road to travel yet on this and some very entrenched views to overcome. It’s all about striking the right balance and the onus is on the industry to demonstrate to regulators how we have addressed the key risks and how far we have moved. We will continue to engage new rule does not prohibit securities ratings and does not involve fund AAA ratings. It just removes securities' ratings language and mandates from the rules.

SEC Chair Mary Jo White comments on the new rule, "Reducing reliance on credit ratings to determine which securities money market funds can hold is an important part of our efforts related to these funds. These amendments also remove credit ratings from one of the last areas of the Commission's rules where they are referenced."

'Presents Minimal Credit Risks'

The SEC's release says, "The money market fund rule 2a-7 currently requires money market funds to invest only in securities that have received one of the two highest short-term credit ratings or, if they are not rated, securities that are of comparable quality. The rule also requires a money market fund to invest at least 97 percent of its assets in securities that have received the highest short-term credit rating. The amendments will eliminate these requirements. Instead, a money market fund is limited to investing in a security only if the fund determines that the security presents minimal credit risks after analyzing certain prescribed factors."

It adds, "The amendments will implement section 939A of the Dodd Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act of 2010 which requires the Commission to review its rules that use credit ratings as an assessment of credit-worthiness and replace those credit-rating references with other appropriate standards." The compliance date is, as with the floating NAV and emergency gates and fees, October 14, 2016.

Will (Former) Second Tier Grow?

Will the elimination of references to first and second tier lead to money fund managers adding more formerly second tier securities to MMF portfolios? The SEC writes in its final rules, "[C]ommenters expressed concern that removal of the distinction and the limit on second tier securities could lead to funds purchasing more risky securities. [They] cautioned that the lack of objective criteria ... could make it more likely that money market funds would increase their exposure to riskier securities [and] produce an incentive for money market funds to reach for yield. [Other] commenters stated that revising the definition of eligible security should mitigate concerns about increased credit risk and decreased uniformity by creating a single standard for identifying eligible securities, particularly when viewed in conjunction with the proposed Form N-MFP disclosure requirements."

We don't expect the new rules to cause much of a change on this front, but that remains to be seen. The intent of the SEC was to strengthen standards, not loosen them. As the chart below shows, 62.3% of money funds are AAA-rated, so they won't be impacted by the new rules. Over half, 53.3%, of Prime funds are AAA

French MMFs Have 'Continuum of Strategies'

As the US money market fund industry braces for Floating or Variable NAV funds, it can look to France, for some insights into VNAV funds. France, with $329 billion in MMF assets, is almost entirely made up of VNAV funds. At our recent Dublin conference, a session entitled, "French Money Market Funds and VNAV" featured Charlotte Quiniou of Fitch Ratings; Vanessa Robert of Moody's Investors Service; Thierry Darmon of Amundi; and, Yann Marhic of Credit Agricole-CIB.

Quiniou said France the second largest money fund market in Europe behind Ireland and ahead of Luxembourg. France has two classes of VNAV funds, Short-Term MMFs and Standard MMFs. Short-Term assets make up about 25%, while Standard assets are closer to 70%, said Quiniou. This is most likely driven by the low yield environment in Europe as investors [seek] higher yields.

Moody's Robert discussed the key differences between CNAV and VNAV funds. [B]oth have to comply with ESMA guidelines and both provide same day settlement to their investors. Further, they are similar in terms of the key ratings factors.... "They have the same investment objectives — to provide daily liquidity and preserve capital," said Robert. However, French MMFs tend to have a lower credit quality and higher concentration of assets than CNAV funds. There is also no evidence that VNAV funds are less prone to run risk, she said. Among the differences between the French VNAV and European CNAV markets is there is the potential for more credit, market, and liquidity risk in France. French MFs are not rated.

Darmon commented on the heterogeneous nature of the French MMF industry. He said, "You will find a continuum of strategies along the risk curve in the money market fund industry. Whether it's today with negative yields or positive yields, you always have a continuum of offerings — from the very low end of the risk scale to the frontier border between money fund and bond management." ♦

But these numbers could change. A shift from Institutional assets to Retail during the "sorting" (reclassification) process though could lead to a lower percentage of AAA rated funds. We could also see more funds could reduce the number of multiple AAA ratings they hold in order to broaden their investment universe. (See our May story, "JPM Streamlines AAA Ratings.")

Finally, the Federal Reserve's CP numbers show "Tier 2" commercial paper totals just $69.1 billion vs. $481.8 billion for "Tier 1" CP (the Fed's definition differs slightly from the SEC's). ## Money Fund Tables - Definitions & Formulas

Money Fund: Name of portfolio and share class; names may be abbreviated. (Note: diamond - indicates AAA rating by Moody's, S&P and/or Fitch.) Symbol: NASDAQ Ticker. If a fund has no ticker, we assign an ID with a number in it (e.g. AIM01). A symbol in italics indicates a new fund to Money Fund Intelligence. Type: Fund category or objective. Prm=Prime (can invest in corporate debt); Gvt=Government (can only invest in U.S. Government obligations); Trs=Treasury, can only invest in U.S. Treasury securities; TxE=Tax Exempt (Federal); Sta=State Tax Exempt (and Federal); Ret=Retail (individual); Inst=Institutional (corporate). Funds are classified as Institutional or Retail based (roughly) on expense ratio (<0.35%=Institutional; >=0.35%=Individual), minimum investment, and/or who they're sold to. Assets: Total share class investments, in millions of dollars. (Portfolio Assets & Fund Family assets are available in Money Fund Intelligence XLS.) AM: Average weighted maturity (in # of days). Exp%: Total Expense Ratio (after waivers) as annual percentage, includes management, 12b-1, shareholder service and administrative fees. Information is obtained from fund accountants, fund management, and other sources. 7Day%: 7-Day (SEC) simple annualized yield in percent. Dividends paid over 7 days are added, divided by 7, then multiplied by 365*100 (for %). (To compound, use the SEC's formula from Form N-1A. Effective Yield= [(Base Period Return + 1)<sup>365/7</sup>]-1.) Rank: Placement among Type (category) universes; 1= best performance. Ties are given equal rankings. Ranks apply to specific Type (i.e., Prime Individual). Note: Universe totals appear in Index rows. 1Mo: monthly total return (unannualized) in %. 3Mo: 3-month cumulative (unannualized) returns in %. YTD: Year-to-date returns (unannualized in %). 1 Yr%: One year total return (annualized, compound). 3Yr%: Average annualized returns for prior 36 months. 5Yr%: Average annualized total returns for prior 60 months. 10Yr%: Average annualized total returns for prior 120 months. Incept: Average annualized return since inception. Gross7: Gross 7-day yield in % (simple), calculated by adding expense ratio to current 7-day yield (annualized). Crane Data is now tracking funds under $100 million. Crane Data makes every effort to obtain accurate statistics and is not responsible for incorrect information. Information is obtained from multiple sources. Money Fund Intelligence™ is for informational purposes only and is not investment advice. ## Money Fund Tables - Definitions & Formulas

Money Fund: Name of portfolio and share class; names may be abbreviated. (Note:  $\diamond$  - indicates AAA rating by Moody's, S&P and/or Fitch.) Symbol: NASDAQ Ticker. If a fund has no ticker, we assign an ID with a number in it (e.g. AIM01). A symbol in italics indicates a new fund to Money Fund Intelligence. Type: Fund category or objective. Prm=Prime (can invest in corporate debt); Gvt=Government (can only invest in U.S. Government obligations); Trs=Treasury, can only invest in U.S. Treasury securities; TxE=Tax Exempt (Federal); Sta=State Tax Exempt (and Federal); Ret=Retail (individual); Inst=Institutional (corporate). Funds are classified as Institutional or Retail based (roughly) on expense ratio (<0.35%=Institutional; >=0.35%=Individual), minimum investment, and/or who they're sold to. Assets: Total share class investments, in millions of dollars. (Portfolio Assets & Fund Family assets are available in Money Fund Intelligence XLS.) AM: Average weighted maturity (in # of days). Exp%: Total Expense Ratio (after waivers) as annual percentage, includes management, 12b-1, shareholder service and administrative fees. Information is obtained from fund accountants, fund management, and other sources. 7Day%: 7-Day (SEC) simple annualized yield in percent. Dividends paid over 7 days are added, divided by 7, then multiplied by 365\*100 (for %). (To compound, use the SEC's formula from Form N-1A. Effective Yield= [(Base Period Return + 1)<sup>365/7</sup> - 1].) Rank: Placement among Type (category) universes; 1= best performance. Ties are given equal rankings. Ranks apply to specific Type (i.e., Prime Individual). Note: Universe totals appear in Index rows. 1Mo: monthly total return (unannualized) in %. 3Mo: 3-month cumulative (unannualized) returns in %. YTD: Year-to-date returns (unannualized in %). 1 Yr%: One year total return (annualized, compound). 3Yr%: Average annualized returns for prior 36 months. 5Yr%: Average annualized total returns for prior 60 months. 10Yr%: Average annualized total returns for prior 120 months. Incept: Average annualized return since inception. Gross7: Gross 7-day yield in % (simple), calculated by adding expense ratio to current 7-day yield (annualized). ## Money Fund Tables - Definitions & Formulas

Money Fund: Name of portfolio and share class; names may be abbreviated. (Note: ♦- indicates AAA rating by Moody's, S&P and/or Fitch.) Symbol: NASDAQ Ticker. If a fund has no ticker, we assign an ID with a number in it (e.g. AIM01). A symbol in italics indicates a new fund to Money Fund Intelligence. Type: Fund category or objective. Prm=Prime (can invest in corporate debt); Gvt=Government (can only invest in U.S. Government obligations); Trs=Treasury, can only invest in U.S. Treasury securities; TxE=Tax Exempt (Federal); Sta=State Tax Exempt (and Federal); Ret=Retail (individual); Inst=Institutional (corporate). Funds are classified as Institutional or Retail based (roughly) on expense ratio (<0.35%=Institutional; >=0.35%=Individual), minimum investment, and/or who they're sold to. Assets: Total share class investments, in millions of dollars. (Portfolio Assets & Fund Family assets are available in Money Fund Intelligence XLS.) AM: Average weighted maturity (in # of days). Exp%: Total Expense Ratio (after waivers) as annual percentage, includes management, 12b-1, shareholder service and administrative fees. Information is obtained from fund accountants, fund management, and other sources. 7Day%: 7-Day (SEC) simple annualized yield in percent. Dividends paid over 7 days are added, divided by 7, then multiplied by 365*100 (for %). (To compound, use the SEC's formula from Form N-1A. Effective Yield= [(Base Period Return + 1)<sup>365/7</sup> - 1].) Rank: Placement among Type (category) universes; 1= best performance. Ties are given equal rankings. Ranks apply to specific Type (i.e., Prime Individual). Note: Universe totals appear in Index rows. 1Mo: monthly total return (unannualized) in %. 3Mo: 3-month cumulative (unannualized) returns in %. YTD: Year-to-date returns (unannualized in %). 1 Yr%: One year total return (annualized, compound). 3Yr%: Average annualized returns for prior 36 months. 5Yr%: Average annualized total returns for prior 60 months. 10Yr%: Average annualized total returns for prior 120 months. Incept: Average annualized return since inception. Gross7: Gross 7-day yield in % (simple), calculated by adding expense ratio to current 7-day yield (annualized).
